Belmont Club Blog Moves to Pajamas Media

Richard Fernandez Is the Site's Newest PajamasXpress Blogger

LOS ANGELES (June 23, 2008) – Today, Pajamas Media (www.pajamasmedia.com), an online media company providing news coverage, analysis and political opinion, announced that blogger Richard Fernandez of the Belmont Club has moved to Pajamas Media and will be contributing to the site as a PajamasXpress blogger.

“We are proud to bring the Belmont Club blog over to Pajamas Media. Fernandez consistently elevates the level of dialogue on top political and public policy issues through his writing and we are happy to have him join the PajamasXpress blogger team,” Pajamas Media CEO and Co-founder Roger L. Simon said.

The Belmont Club blog, now located at <http://pajamasmedia.com/richardfernandez/>, earned its acclaim through top-notch coverage of issues involving foreign policy, the military and politics with a focus on history. The blog was founded by Richard Fernandez in April 2003. Fernandez has contributed to PajamasMedia.com in the past and written on a variety of issues for the site. Fernandez graduated from Harvard with a Masters degree in Public Policy and currently lives in Australia.

“Moving the Belmont Club to Pajamas Media just makes sense. I respect the new way that Pajamas Media is covering important news stories and look forward to joining their already strong network of contributors and having a permanent place on the site where I can add my analysis and commentary,” said Mr. Fernandez.

Pajamas Media is committed to presenting a wide spectrum of news, analysis, and American and foreign political commentary. Richard Fernandez will join Victor Davis Hanson, Richard Minter, Roger Kimball, Bill Bradley, Claudia Rosett, Phyllis Chesler, Michael Ledeen, Ron Silver, Flemming Rose, and Ron Rosenbaum who contribute to the site as PajamasXpress bloggers. Tennessee radio host Steve Gill, Boston Herald editor and columnist Jules Crittenden, and actor and former Senator Fred Thompson are also among Pajamas Media's broad network of worldwide bloggers and contributors.
