Pajamas Media Names Jennifer Rubin as D.C. Editor

LOS ANGELES – Pajamas Media (www.pajamasmedia.com), an online media company providing news coverage, analysis and political opinion, today announced that Jennifer Rubin has been named the Washington, D.C. Editor.

“We are pleased to have Jennifer serve as the D.C. Editor for Pajamas Media,” said Pajamas Media CEO and Co-founder Roger L. Simon. “Her insightful writing on top political and foreign policy issues from our nation’s capital is an immense asset for our readers.”

“As Pajamas Media’s D.C. Editor, I look forward to broadening our coverage of breaking news, interviewing key Washington insiders, and providing compelling reporting and analysis,” Rubin said.

In addition to her continuing work with PJM, Rubin is an attorney and journalist living in Northern Virginia. She has written for numerous print and online publications including the Weekly Standard, New York Sun, New York Post, ABC.com, National Review Online, Politico.com, and Jerusalem Post. Rubin’s broadcast credits include appearances on MSNBC, CSPAN’s “Morning Journal,” and frequent guest spots on syndicated radio talk shows.

Rubin graduated from the University of California, Berkeley with a B.A. in history and received her J.D. from U.C. Berkeley’s Boalt School of Law. She has practiced labor and employment law for more than twenty years.

Rubin’s joining PJM occurs as the company continues to expand its broad network of worldwide bloggers, contributors and editors. New additions include “Weather Nerd” Brendan Loy and the tech blog “Edgelings.” Loy joined the PajamasXpress team to report on breaking weather news, especially the upcoming 2008 hurricane season. Loy’s 2005 coverage of Hurricane Katrina garnered attention from the New York Times and Washington Post, among other national and international publications. Edgelings, founded by a team of prominent Silicon Valley media and technology executives, can also be found on the PajamasXpress section of the website. It provides constantly-updated news, reviews and commentary from technology regions around the globe, and easily-accessible views on high tech culture, lifestyles and celebrities, including bleeding-edge profiles of new companies, gadgets and business trends.
